The following is a quotation of the first paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall contain a written description of the invention, and of the manner and process of making and using it, in such full, clear, concise, and exact terms as to enable any person skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and use the same and shall set forth the best mode contemplated by the inventor of carrying out his invention.

The amendment filed 9-7-00 is objected to under 35 U.S.C. 132 because it introduces new matter into the disclosure. 35 U.S.C. 132 states that no amendment shall introduce new matter into the disclosure of the invention. The added material which is not supported by the original disclosure is claims 6, 12 and 17.

Applicant is required to cancel the new matter in the reply to this Office Action.

Claims 6, 12 and 17 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph, as containing subject matter which was not described in the specification in such a way as to reasonably convey to one skilled in the relevant art that the inventor(s), at the time the application was filed, had possession of the claimed invention. The non-described subject matter is the entire claim language.

The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

Art Unit: 2814

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

Claims 1-17 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

The following lack sufficient literal antecedent basis:

Claims 1, 6, 7, 12, 13 and 17, "the wires";

Claims 2, 5, 8, 11, 14 and 16, "each wire";

Claims 6, 12 and 17, "the one wire," and, "any side of the section of interposer having the bonding pad to which the one wire is bonded."

Claims 6, 12 and 17 are grammatically awkward, ambiguous and confusing.

A rejection based on double patenting of the "same invention" type finds its support in the language of 35 U.S.C. 101 which states that "whoever invents or discovers any new and useful process ... may obtain a patent therefor ..." (Emphasis added). Thus, the term "same invention," in this context, means an invention drawn to identical subject matter. See Miller v. Eagle Mfg. Co., 151 U.S. 186 (1894); In re Ockert, 245 F.2d 467, 114 USPQ 330 (CCPA 1957); and In re Vogel, 422 F.2d 438, 164 USPQ 619 (CCPA 1970).

A statutory type (35 U.S.C. 101) double patenting rejection can be overcome by canceling or amending the conflicting claims so they are no longer coextensive in scope. The filing of a terminal disclaimer cannot overcome a double patenting rejection based upon 35 U.S.C. 101.

Claims 1-17 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 101 as claiming the same invention as that of claims 1, 2 and 6-10 of prior U.S. Patent No. 5,950,070. This is a double patenting rejection.

To further clarify, although instant claims 7 and 13 are differently worded than claim 1 of the prior patent, they define the same invention. Specifically, claim 1 of the prior patent recites, "assembling a respective section of a dielectric interposer to each respective one of the plurality of chips individually"; whereas, claim 7, recites, "assembling a sheet including a plurality of interposers to said portion of said semiconductor wafer so that each said interposer is assembled to an associated one of the plurality of chips." However, claim 7 defines the same invention as claim 1 because the limitations of claim 7 are inherent in the corresponding limitations of claim 1. In particular, at column 2, line 66 to column 3, line 7; column 4, line 46 "tape"; and column 5, lines 27-29, the prior patent defines the term "interposer" as a sheet.

Also, claim 1 of the prior patent recites, "providing a portion of a semiconductor wafer," and, "assembling a respective section of a dielectric interposer to each respective one of the plurality of chips individually"; whereas, claim 13, recites, "providing a semiconductor wafer," and "assembling a sheet including a plurality of interposers to said semiconductor wafer so that each said interposer is assembled to an associated one of the plurality of chips." Claim 13 defines the same invention as claim 1 because these limitations of claim 13 are inherent in the corresponding limitations of claim 1. In particular, at column 2, line 66 to column 3, line 7; column 4, line 46 "tape"; and column 5, lines 27-29, the prior patent defines the term "interposer" as a sheet.

The nonstatutory double patenting rejection is based on a judicially created doctrine grounded in public policy (a policy reflected in the statute) so as to prevent the unjustified or improper timewise extension of the "right to exclude" granted by a patent and to prevent possible harassment by multiple assignees. See In re Goodman, 11 F.3d 1046, 29 USPQ2d 2010 (Fed. Cir. 1993); In re Longi, 759 F.2d 887, 225 USPQ 645 (Fed. Cir. 1985); In re Van Ornum, 686 F.2d 937, 214 USPQ 761 (CCPA 1982); In re Vogel, 422 F.2d 438, 164 USPQ 619 (CCPA 1970); and, In re Thorington, 418 F.2d 528, 163 USPQ 644 (CCPA 1969).

A timely filed terminal disclaimer in compliance with 37 CFR 1.321(c) may be used to overcome an actual or provisional rejection based on a nonstatutory double patenting ground provided the conflicting application or patent is shown to be commonly owned with this application. See 37 CFR 1.130(b).

Effective January 1, 1994, a registered attorney or agent of record may sign a terminal disclaimer. A terminal disclaimer signed by the assignee must fully comply with 37 CFR 3.73(b).
